Turn your strategy into reality
Align your entire organization to deliver the outcomes that matter most, with Strategic Portfolio Management from ServiceNow.

"How do I deliver more value, more consistently, when everything is constantly changing?"

2. ALIGN
Truth: Resource and investment planning need to be continuous.
Respond quickly and decisively when changes are needed:
ServiceNow's SPM solution gives planners and managers a unified view of all demand and work, so you can track key initiatives and visualize dependencies across different teams and workstreams. Quickly identify, prioritize, and schedule the right work at a granular level while ensuring teams and resources remain aligned to broader strategic initiatives.

“How do I know if I'm doing the right things to deliver the best outcomes?"

3. DELIVER
Truth: Teams need the flexibility to decide how they deliver work.
Don't tell teams how to work, empower them to deliver more value:
When you implement SPM with ServiceNow, your teams are free to execute in the methodology that's most effective for them (Agile, traditional, hybrid) and structure work based on their needs—while maintaining the ability to fund, govern, and manage all work from a single integrated platform.

3. DELIVER
Deliver work using any methodology

Strategic Portfolio Management (SPM) empowers organizations to drive business outcomes by aligning their strategy with their work, enabling them to plan, deliver, and track value across different methodologies and structures.

With ServiceNow's SPM solution, you can build true organizational agility, delivering work across the enterprise that is aligned with strategic outcomes—even in today's disruption-prone environment.

If change is the norm, how you respond to it matters more than ever.

ServiceNow's SPM solution closes the gap between strategy and delivery.

The hard truth is that, for many organizations, digital transformation and enterprise agile initiatives are not living up to their promise.

Business leaders need to adapt quickly to emerging threats and opportunities, but today's enterprises are complex and interconnected. Even organizations that have implemented traditional project portfolio management (PPM) struggle to develop and maintain alignment between strategy, planning, and delivery—and this misalignment slows the flow of value through your organization.

If change is the norm, how you respond to it matters more than ever.
